DEATH OF MRS. J. A HUMPHRIES .-Mrs Mary Virginia Humpuries, wife of Mr. John A. Humphries, died on Christmas day. Sie had been in deli-cate health for a long time, and some months ago while suff-ring with an attack of the malady that caused her death, her life was almost despaired of.
Mrs. Humphries, however, rallied from that attack, but her health ever since that time had been in a very precarious condition. Mrs. Humphries had been a resident of Lynchburg for years. She was at the time of her death sixty years of age, and throughout her life had won the respect, the love and the esteem of all with whom she came in contact. She was a lady of quiet and retiring disposition, devoted to her friends and family. She was a consistent member of Centenary Methodist Church, and in the church circles she was an earnest worker and a devout and sincere christian. Her remains were taken to Alexandria Saturday over the Southern railroad. A brief but touching and impressive service was conducted at the residence on Cabell street at 7 o'clock Saturday morning by the pastor of Centenary Church, Rev. W. A. Christian. A large number of friends of the family were present. The pall-bearers were Messrs. T. N. Davis, L. G. Bell, J. N. Wells, A. N. Wray, J. J. Thompson, and John W. Langford, Mrs. Humpnries is survived by her husband and several children, among the latter being Messrs John A. Humphries, jr., Edwar! Humphries, French Hum-phries, Ernest Humphries, and Miss Nannie Humphries.—Lynchburg News

MCNAMARA, THE EX PRIEST .- MC-Namara, the ex-priest, arrived in the city a few days ago and began to make arrangements for delivering a series of lectures. McNamara some years ago gained some notoriety by his crusa te against Catholicism, and in some places he visited his lectures were the occasion of some disorder. He, it is alleged, rented Schuler's Hall from Mr. Schuler's son without definitely stating the object of his lectures, and when Mr. M. Schuler became aware of their character, and apprehending that disorder might follow, he cancelled the contract. The ex-priest now declares that he will lecture noiens volens; in other words, that he proposes to take possession of the hall to-night by virtue of his con tract with Mr. Schuler's son. Of course the legal procedure would be for the ex-priest to enter suit for damages for violation of a covenant and let the courts settle the matter. It is believed that there is too much conservatism among the church-going portion of the community for it to be drawn into ecclesiastical broils, especially at this time when the members of all denomi-nations (as has been the case for many years) are working shoulder to shoulder in alleviating the wants of those who, in mid-winter, are in our midst suffering from adverse fortune.

ICE ON PAVEMENTS,-It has been the custom of some persons in this city ever since the water works were constructed to allow their hydrants to run all night during cold weather to keep them from freezing. The result is a serious inconvenience to pedestrians and a menace to life and limb. During the recent cold snap this practice has been followed by a number of people, and many complaints have been lodged with the authorities. In all such cases officers have been sent to the parties offending and admonished that a repetition of the act will involve them in trouble. They were also made to re-move the ice. There is a law in the city code imposing fines on persons who maintain nuisances on their premises, and those who cause their pave-ments and the gutters in front of their premises to be covered with ice are certainly guilty of an infraction of this law. The police have been instructed to give the subject their special atten-

COUNTY COURT .- Judge D. M. Chichester presiding.—Aaron O'Dell vs. Wm. Bailey; attachment quashed and plaintiff directed to deliver to defendant the horse Lady May.

As on yesterday most of the time of the court 10 day was occupied in the matter of opening a new road in the county to connect the proposed exten-sion of Prince street with the Leesturg pike. To day a number of witnesses were examined, some in favor and others opposed to the new road, it being the wish of the opponents to show that the road proposed would be too expensive and that a more desirable one could be constructed at much less cost. This evening the judge, the at-torneys on both sides and several of those most interested in the matter went over the proposed road, after which they returned to the court house where the judge heard arguments on both sides.

The court ordered the new road to
